

Amble Town Council - Monthly Roundup - November 2023

Fire and Rescue Service

The Town Council recently met with representatives of Northumberland Fire and Rescue Service to talk about their prevention and protection work. They are keen to establish open lines of communication with all community groups and organisations wherever possible and want to let people know that there is so much more they can help with. There is a lot of support available through the Fire and Rescue Service and they work closely with other organisations. If you would like them to come to your group for an informal chat please get in touch with them, or we will happily pass your details to them.

CCTV

Members have agreed further upgrades to the CCTV system which will ensure that the system continues to operate to its full potential in the future. We know the CCTV coverage of the town has proved vital to Northumbria Police.

D Day

Plans continue to be worked out for the D Day Anniversary in June 2024. Watch this space for further information.

Community Hub

Council awaits a decision from Northumberland County Council with regards to the Expression of Interest for Amble First School site. There are a number of procedures to be fulfilled and these can present delays to the answers we need before we can move forward.

Remembrance Day

Once again Remembrance Day was very well attended and there were again many wreath layers paying their respects. We would like to pass on our thanks to all involved but specifically to Amble Army Cadets, Coquet Churches Together, Ron Creasy, Bev Palin, Ben Newall, NCC and Spurellis.

Anti-Social Behaviour

Unfortunately, we continue to see Anti-Social Behaviour throughout the town. We urge anyone experiencing any sort of anti-social behaviour to report it to the Northumbria Police. We continue to work with other local bodies to tackle the issue.
